is governed by the Dataforth Counterfeit Policy to provide uniform requirements, practices and methods to mitigate the risks of receiving and installing counterfeit electronic parts. Dataforth Corporation prides itself on the quality of its products. To protect customers from suspect or confirmed counterfeit goods, the Dataforth ISO9001 QMS covers robust supplier selection, supplier monitoring, and incoming / outgoing goods inspection procedures. This precludes introduction of counterfeit parts into the supply chain through strict avoidance, detection, mitigation, and disposition processes.

If a suspect or confirmed counterfeit part is identified, Dataforth quarantines the part and any affected products and report the findings to the supplier, relevant customers, and appropriate authorities such as Government Industry Data Exchange Program (GIDEP).
